

Greg Barrett

President and CEO

BARRX Medical, Inc.

Greg Barrett has more than 20 years of medical device experience, working in the fields of gastroenterology, urology, cardiology, gynecology and general minimally invasive surgery. Prior to joining BARRX Medical, Barrett served as president and CEO of ACMI Corporation. Barrett was previously a group vice president at Boston Scientific Corporation with responsibilities at various times over the Microvasive Endoscopy, Microvasive Urology and Intercontinental International businesses. Barrett has also held the position of vice president, global sales and marketing at both Orthofix Corporation (formerly American Medical Electronics) and Baxter Healthcare. He also spent 11 years at C.R. Bard Corporation and finished his tenure as vice president of marketing in the cardiosurgery division.

Barrett holds a B.B.A. in marketing from the University of Texas, Austin.